Maven

The Definitive Guide

Sonatype Online Maven Training

With Sonatype training, you will learn the know-how and best practices directly from Maven and Nexus experts. Our training materials were developed by well-known members of the Maven community.

In an online training class, you will be able to interact with our online trainers in real time, using an interactive WebEx training environment. Each student will also be supplied with a Windows-based student workstation which can be accessed remotely for the duration of the training class.

At this time, Sonatype offers two online training courses:

MVN-101 Maven Mechanics

An online instructor-led course of two half-day sessions, ideal for programmers who work with Maven projects and need to understand how to work with an existing Maven build. This class is also appropriate for Maven users who are interested in Maven fundamentals.

MVN-201 Development Infrastructure Design

An online instructor-led course of two half-day sessions, ideal for Development Infrastructure Engineers who are responsible for maintaining enterprise development infrastructure.
